

THE CENTRAL RECORD

SIXTEENTH YEAR.

LANCASTER, KY., FRIDAY, MARCH 23 1906.

NUMBER 50

Local Gossip

The ladies of the Baptist church cleared about $25.00 on the handkerchief sale.

The Baptist Aid Society will meet with Mrs Susan Salter Monday afternoon at two o'clock.

When the spring schedules are made up, it is quite probable that the early morning trains (No's 9 and 10) will be run on Sundays.

"The Lid" will be a good thing for the barbers, as under present conditions they have absolutely no time for rest save on Sunday afternoons.

When the City Council gets the lid on, it will afford many an old sinner an excuse for remaining away from church by reason of not being shaved.

The mail service between Lancaster and Lexington is rotten. You can write a letter to Chicago and get an answer quicker than you can communicate with Lexington.

The Record will soon be located with a National Bank under it and a Masonic Lodge over it. We don't know much about banks, but we're certainly satisfied with the latter neighbors.

Meeting at Gunn's Chapel.

Rev G N Jolly will begin a protracted meeting at Gunn's Chapel near Buckeye, on Wednesday night 25 instant. He will be assisted in the services by Miss Lucy Lee Mahan of London Ky. A cordial invitation to all.

Postmaster West has had some good improvements made on the post office fixtures, and Lancaster now has the neatest, most convenient office in Central Kentucky. There is plenty of room, the boxes are convenient, and Mr West and his obliging deputy, "Happy Hooligan," are prompt and polite in waiting on patrons of the office.

The Lid To Fall.

As stated in last issue, the City Council has decided to place "the lid" on the barber shops, stores, etc., on Sunday, and City Attorney R. L. Davidson has drafted an ordinance covering the case. We understand the movement was started by several merchants who are called upon to go to their stores on Sunday, no matter what time of day, sell goods, and frequently do as much work as on week days. We don't know when the "Lid" will be set in position, but presume it will be arranged at next regular meeting of the Council.

The WCTU will hold an exchange at the Post Office, April 14th. Saturday before Easter.

The Christian Endeavor, of the Presbyterian church, will give a pound social on March 30th. Every body invited to attend.

Most all the new members go on into the Uniform Rank, which, by the way, is booming as much as the subordinate lodge.

Wild Geese.

A flock of wild geese have been flying about the county for several days. From their actions, it is evident the "leader" has been killed. Jesse Myers, a colored man, is the only man who has made a successful shot at them; he having killed one on the lake at Miller's distillery Tuesday.

Mr Geo. B Van Horn, of Lexington, representing the Smith Premier Type writer Co., was here this week and placed one of those splendid machines in the Record office. As all the "copy" and other writing in this office is type written, we were compelled to have the very best machine made, consequently we purchased the latest pattern of the Smith Premier.

Jury From Madison.

Judge Bell, knowing how many Garfield people were familiar with the case, sent Mr Jack Adams as a special deputy to Madison county where he summoned fifty men who came here Monday morning as jurors in the case against Will Ward for killing Henry Patterson. Mr Adams performed his duty well, as a more intelligent body of men were never brought from a neighboring county.

Want Gilbert to Run Again.

The Democratic committee of his home county of Shelby adopted a resolution pertaining Congressman G G Gilbert, of this district, to reconsider his often announced determination to not offer for re election, and to again lead the Democracy of the eighth to victory. It is stated that Mr Gilbert has the matter under serious consideration.

Fish Ladders.

The Legislature passed a bill requiring all owners of dams in the water courses of this State to erect fish ladders upon them. It is the tendency of game fish, especially the bass, to go upstream in the spring and deposit their spawn. When this is prevented by high dams the spawn is deposited at the foot of these dams and most of it is destroyed. The cost of fish ladders is very small and it will help the propagation of game fish in our streams.

A Popular Man.

About the cleverest conductor who ever punched a ticket is Capt. John McNab, who runs on the "Eilen N" between Louisville and Lexington. Notwithstanding the many trials and tribulations conductors suffer, he is always in a good humor and has a pleasant word for everyone. He wears a smile about the size of a canvassed ham, and his courtesy to the passengers has made a legion of friends who will "swear by him" at any time. He is a Knight Templar and a very bright Mason.

Gaines.

Danville News:—Mrs Sarah Dunn Gaines, aged sixty five years, died suddenly of apoplexy at her home on East Main street Friday afternoon. At first it was thought death was caused from a fracture of the skull, she having fallen to the pavement in rear of her residence, but an examination by eminent medical author indicated that death was caused by apoplexy.

Mr and Mrs Gaines stepped out in the back yard of their residence and Mr Gaines had just spoken to her and turned to go into the house when he heard her fall to the pavement. When he and other members of the household reached her she was dead. This is the seventh death which has occurred in the immediate family within the past fifteen months. Mrs Sarah Dunn Gaines was a daughter of the late Josiah Dunn, of Garrard county, and the wife of Robert Gaines, of this city. Besides her husband and only son, Fisher Gaines, of Danville, she is survived by two brothers and one sister—Mrs J W Cook, Danville; Wils Dunn, Danville and Oss Dunn, of Indianapolis, Ind.

"Big" Court.

Judge Bell kept the wheels of justice moving at a rapid rate last week, and disposed of what The Record will call a "job lot" of little Commonwealth's cases in almost less time than it takes to tell it. The "Chute Coon" was largely in evidence on the docket. Lump Wallace was fined $50 and sent to jail for ten days for selling whisky. Wm Humber caught the same fine and imprisonment for a like offense and Jim "Wiggle" was soaked for $25 for hitting a Negro woman. Wm Roach was fined $25 and ten days for carrying concealed weapons and Ollie Hayden fined $10 for vagrancy. Several other little cases were disposed of, the juries working hard to give justice in each case. The court excused the jury Saturday until Wednesday, as the Ward cases was to be called Monday.

The Ladies Aid Society will meet with Mrs Opelia Dunn on Richmond st, Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Sunday School at Herring's.

A meeting will be held at Herring's school house next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock for the purpose of organizing a Sunday school. Everybody is urged to be present.

Good Man For Jailer.

Mr Jack Adams tells The Record he is a candidate for Jailer of Garrard county, and is in the race not only to stay, but to win. Jack Adams is one

Wild Geese.

A flock of wild geese have been flying about the county for several days. From their actions, it is evident the "leader" has been killed. Jesse Myers, a colored man, is the only man who has made a successful shot at them; he having killed one on the lake at Miller's distillery Tuesday.

Jury From Madison.

Judge Bell, knowing how many Garfield people were familiar with the case, sent Mr Jack Adams as a special deputy to Madison county where he summoned fifty men who came here Monday morning as jurors in the case against Will Ward for killing Henry Patterson. Mr Adams performed his duty well, as a more intelligent body of men were never brought from a neighboring county.

Well Deserved Compliment.

Nicholasville Journal: Without any contradiction, Garrard county has the best looking superintendent of public schools in any county we know of—Jessamine included. Our friend, Louis Landram, has been telling us of Garrard's pretty daughters, and if they are all as good looking as Miss Mittie Dunn, the superintendent referred to well, confidentially, without our wives knowing it, if she were to run for office in Jessamine, Miss Dunn would cap the Journal force from the editors to the devil.

The Ward Case.

The case against Will Ward for killing Henry Patterson was called Monday morning, and it required little time to select the jury from the special venire of fifty men summoned from Madison county. The prosecution was conducted by Commonwealth's Attorney Chas Hardin, County Attorney Joe E Robinson, Judge M C Saufley, Rob Harding and Lewis L Walker, the defense being conducted by R H Tomlinson, J Mort Rothwell and W J Williams. A statement of the case having been published in The Record at the time of the killing, we will not again attempt to give the details.

Fined Under Farris Law.

One of the features of the Farris Blind Tiger Law was tested in the circuit court last week when Jas Cox was tried for hauling beer into Lancaster, a local option town. This is punishable under Senator Farris' tiger law.

It was proven that the stuff was hauled by Cox, who was employed to do so by the tiger people. If we are not mis-taken the law puts the offense as "procuring beer for those accused of the illegal sale of same." The jury returned a verdict of $50 fine and ten days in jail. We understand the case will be appealed. As this is a new feature in local option laws, the outcome will be watched with much interest.

Can Accomplish Much Good.

The Presbyterian church was crowded Wednesday evening by Lancaster's best people who had met to discuss the all-important question of "Good Citizenship." His Honor, Mayor Duncan, presided, and speeches were made by the attorneys and other prominent citizens who aired their views on what was best for Lancaster, and how to bring about enforcement of the local option law. The coming together of those who are for law and order, and the exchanging of views on the subject is bound to result in much good, and The Record, which always stands subject to the beck and call of the ministers and those who are for the right, suggests that similar meetings be held once or twice a month for the purpose of keeping an eye on those elected to enforce the law, and discussing other matters of equal importance to the welfare of Lancaster.

Our old friend, Major E. W. Lillard, of Danville, is an aspirant for the position of adjutant general, to fill the vacancy caused by the appointment of Gen. Hale to another place. This is an office which should be filled by a man who is not only possessed of good judgement, but should have long experience in military matters. Maj. Lillard has both, and his long and faithful services to the Democratic party could mighty well be rewarded by his appointment. He is one of the most popular men, in the state, especially so with the newspaper men, he having been in the harness as editor of the Danville News for a number of years. The State Guard is in better shape today than it has ever been, and right now is the time for an experienced man to be placed in charge of it. That Maj. Lillard can "deliver the goods" those who know him do not doubt.

His legion of newspaper friends are very proud of the splendid record made by Editor Harry McCarty, of Nicholasville, in the recent session of the Legislature. Sterling integrity, unquestioned honesty and unflinching courage are characteristics which a bound in this noble gentleman, while his untiring work for his friends has made him one of the most popular men in the state. Harry McCarty has a heart as big as a feed basket.

Some time ago a proposition was made to abolish Latin, mathematics, English literature and chemistry from the college curriculum, but in a few days the question of abolishing football came up, and the former proposition was so completely overshadowed it has not since been heard of.

An Iowa woman asks for $75,000 damages from a man who courted her for two years and then refused to marry her. The finding should be for the man, as no woman should let a man go with her this long with the "nothing doing" sign displayed all the while.

An Arkansas girl now holds the world's typewriting record, 32,000 words in seven and a half hours. This is going some, but if the temper of the little Miss were riled, we venture she could speak ten times as many words in one tenth the space.

A trade note says that automobiles are built higher. Good! They should be built so high that the victim, when he sees a machine approaching, could sit to discourage every honest effort for advancement, improvement and development.

It is a part of healthful self-respect to speak well of one's town and of its institutions and enterprises. We should welcome every well behaved stranger and swing wide the doors to every new industry. This is a town of beautiful location, and of promising possibilities, and the citizen himself who speaks slightly of his home or of any new enterprise seeking to gain a foothold.

Carefully analyze your motives for desiring to obstruct to make sure that you do not place yourself in the untenable position of a knocker.

Kansas Piety.

A Kansas farmer with his eyes directed toward the rafters, was saying grace when he suddenly exclaimed, "There's that darn gnat we've been looking for these last six months. Get up there and get it quick, Jim-we ax for Christ sake. Amen!"

Interurban Lines.

Elizabethtown News:—There has been a most wonderful development in the last few years by the construction of interurban electric lines. Many sections however, have not been able to have them on account of expense of operation. This has now been met with perfectly successful experiments with gasoline engines as motors for running suburban trains. With the gasoline motor the expensive power houses are eliminated and the expensive constructions of cables. As these interurban train can run on very steep grades the construction of road beds are largely confined to cost of rails and cross ties and with the gasoline motor capable of great speed and run at small cost it will be a short time until there will be nearly as many interurban lines as turnpike and the cost of construction will not be much greater. The day is not far distant when a number of these lines will connect all the important places in Hardin and adjoining counties.

Mary Anderson.

Mary Anderson DeNavarro, the most famous of all Kentucky's daughters who now lives in England, will within a few days receive an invitation to come back to Louisville during "Home coming" week, and it is not improbable that she will accept the invitation.

At the request of Col R. M. Kelley, the pamphlet entitled "Don't you want to come back and see the folks?" was mailed to Mrs Antonio DeNavarro, Court Farm, Broadway, Worcestershire, England. She has never been in Louisville since her marriage and retirement from the stage.

Mrs DeNavarro is expected to come to Louisville for the dedication of the new theatre at fourth and Chestnut streets, which will be named in her honor and it is hoped that she will come to Louisville in June for "Home coming" week remaining there until the theatre is completed.

The gathering together of the distinguished sons and daughters of Kentucky, who now reside elsewhere, the presence of Mr DeNavarro would add much to the success of the gathering.

KENTUCKIANS

Are Scattered Far And Wide in Every State of the Union.

An examination of the census reports of 1900 shows that Kentucky has been particularly generous in furnishing her best blood to upbuilding of other States, particularly throughout the West. In the States and territories in the United States there were, according to census in 1900, 546,265 native born Kentuckians. Since the report there have been many others who have left Kentucky for other States, and, with the 30,000 living in Canada, and others living in Mexico, South America, Europe and Asia, there are over 600,000 natives of Kentucky living without the borders of the State. To reach every one of them, if possible with an invitation to Home Coming Week has been the task set for itself by Louisville Commercial Club. Thousands of invitations are being mailed and every effort is being made to secure the name of every one who has left this State to fight life's battle elsewhere.

By the appended table it will be seen that Missouri has the greatest number of native-born Kentuckians, 88,241; Indiana is second, with 77,551, while Delaware and New Hampshire have the fewest, 58 each.

The following table gives the number of native-born Kentuckians living in the States and territories of the United States:

Alabama 4,207, Alaska 212, Arizona 1,189, Arkansas 20,641, California 9,988, Colorado 7,146, Connecticut 324, Delaware 58, District of Columbia 1,239, Florida 2,169, Georgia 1,968, Hawaii 46, Idaho 1,238, Illinois 62,209, Indiana 77,851, Indiana Territory 8,622, Iowa 9,060, Kansas 31,364, Louisiana 4,365, Maine 80, Maryland 726, Massachusetts 1,021, Michigan 2,669, Minnesota 3,144, Mississippi 5,005, Missouri 88,241, Montana 2,212, Nebraska 6,217, Nevada 247, New Hampshire 58, New Jersey 1,105, New Mexico 937, New York 4,632, North Carolina 711, North Dakota 515, Ohio 53,464, Oklahoma 11,715, Oregon 3,344, Pennsylvania 4,178, Rhode Island 147, South Carolina 325, South Dakota 690, Tennessee 36,052, Texas 47,232, Utah 766, Vermont 64, Washington 3,896, West Virginia 10,867, Wisconsin 1,003, Wyoming 862. ROMANS & ELMORE

Fine Music for Fair,

Saxton & Treat's celebrated military band will furnish music for the Lancaster fair, July 18, 19, 20. They have the best band this year Central Kentucky ever had, and guarantee satisfaction to the most fastidious critics. They have a number of professionals from other cities who will play with them during the entire season. It is a well-known fact that even the name "Saxton" makes one feel like shaking his borgans.

True As Gospel.

The following extract taken from an exchange should be good reading for every citizen in Lancaster. A truer statement was never made: "There ought to be no faction in a country town. The prosperity of one individual and every improvement enhances the value of all property in the corporation. A town is simply a big family. Where there is discord there is little progress. When there is a united pull for everything the accomplishment is made easy. Envy, jealousy and hatred are the things to be dispised. Envy is a cancer that gnaws at the heart and makes people sour towards the intellect and makes them unfair in passing judgment. Hatred does not pay even from a sor point of view."

A Mother's Love.

One of the prettiest things in all the world is mother's love for a wayward son—for the boy who is astray, who is found in crimson paths, hand in hand with the meanest murderers, whose companions, ye who partners, are common thieves and highway men and cutthroats. When all living creatures spurn him the mother loves him still; when the hand of scorn is pointed at him from every direction, she makes excuses for him, and says: "He is good at heart." She goes into the hell-hole-mild debauchery and pleads with him "to come and go away," she follows him to the prison door, and with a thousand kisses shields him over to the "authorities," believing implicitly in his innocence. She goes with him to the scaffold, and when the cold corpse of the sinning son is given over to her she bathes it in her tears—and, though there be fifty years yet of life before her she will be miserable to the end—no more sunshine for her—all of life is horror. Truly, a mother's love like "flaming stars," burns on till the great throbbing heart is cold and still. God pity that poor mother—whose life is made miserable by criminal son.—Springfield Sun.

A Gamble Or A Blessing.

The Elizabethtown News digs up the following verses. Editor Sommers says he does not know their author. Somehow or other the poet has a way of getting "next" to us and telling in rhyme and meter the good things we do or ought to do and the things we miss or may have missed.

AS YOU MAKE IT.

To the preacher life's a sermon,
To the joker it's a jest;
To the miser life is money,
To the lover life is rest;

To the lawyer life's a trial,
To the poet life's a song;

To the doctor life's a patient
That needs treatment right along.

To the soldier life's a battle,
To the teacher life's a school;

Life's a "good" thing to the grater,
It's failure to the fool.

To the man upon the tongue,
Life's a load and heavy grade;

It's a gamble to the gambler,

To the merchant life's a trade.

Life's a picture to the artist,

To the rascal life's a fraud;

Life perhaps is but a burden

To the man beneath the load.

Life is lovely to the lover,

To the player life's a play;

Life may be a load of trouble,

To the man upon the dray.

Life is but a long vacation,

To the man who loves his work;

Life's an everlasting effort

To shut duty or to shirk.

To the heaven-blessed romancer

Life's a story ever new;

Life is what we try to make it—

Brother, what is life to you?

Wedding of Prominent Couple.

The marriage of Mr Charles Cox and Miss Maggie Belle Stevens, last week, was solemnized at home of the bride's parents, on the Crab Orchard pike in the presence of the relatives and some intimate friends. The ceremony was performed by Rev C S Ellis, of the Baptist church. The bride is a daughter of Mr David Stevens, and is a young lady of beauty and many accomplishments. She is quite popular with a wide circle of friends and admirers, who wish her all happiness. The groom, who is the son of Mr Henry R Cox, is a young gentleman in every sense of the word, and his industry, uprightness and manliness have won him a legion of friends who wish him all success. The fact that he is Henry Cox' boy is proof enough that he has been raised right, and is honorable in every sense of the word.

A TRIBUTE

To Mrs Susan Price.

Ripe and full of years, Mrs Susan Woodruff Price has been gathered to her fathers. A familiar figure to several generations in the place of her birth, there is not a home where sorrow does not reign, where sympathy does not dwell. The writer knew her first in the full maturity of her widowhood and motherhood. Devoted to her fireside circle, she was a keeper at home. One vivid picture comes before me as my mind travels back in reminiscence. Her little boy, whom she so proudly idolized, stood beside her at the cottage on the hill, (a high hill in that day) in her arms was another little man in long clothes; and her twin daughters, Mary and Martha, were standing eyeing the callers with the unabashed gaze of childhood. Death broke into the little band and gathered as angels from heaven two of this lovely group, and other children followed to the grave till only two are left: William Cleo Price, now of Danville, and Martha Price Frisbie, who has lived with her mother since her widowhood.

In her friendships Mrs Price was real and true. Wherever sickness and sorrow entered, she, too, came in a ministering spirit; and not a few survivors will remember her kind act while life lasts. The social side of her nature every drew her among the young people, while her sense of humor made her distinctly companionable in all circles. Her reign was in an era when women were so poorly educated that their topics of conversation were limited to persons and things. Books were scarce, opportunities for mental improvement were few, and the "village gossip" was a known character in every assembly. Amid these conditions, and in this atmosphere, Mrs Price rose superior to the spirit of the age. Her voice was gentle and her heart was kind. Her speech was harmless, and her judgement were ever in charity. Her sense of the eternal fitness of things was finely adjusted. She was gifted with a superior mind, and was an artist of no mean ability. Her paintings on velvet were celebrated at that time of the domestic, feminine accomplishment; and I doubt, not, that there is still in the family a certain exquisite gown adorned by her brush to rival the daintiest Parisian fabric. Her artistic genius was also manifest in her love of flowers, in the cultivations of which she was untiring. Her home was beautified by their bloom, and the esthetic gave coloring to the prosaic details of daily living.

Mrs Price was one of a large family. Her father, Jesse Woodruff, held a municipal office in the town of Lancaster where she passed her life, with the exception of several years in Danville. She was the wife of a noble gentleman, who represented our best citizenship in birth, education and right living. Dr Jennings Price, now deceased. There are some very sweet lessons to be learned from the record she has left us. And we who are approaching the sunset slope may well hope that life's fitful fever over, we may, like her "Wrap the draperies of our couch about us, and lie down to pleasant dreams."

Eugenia D Potts.

A Tribute To Mrs Susan Price.

Fuji of years and of deserved honors she has passed from among us. She was a woman of long and varied experiences much checked in her girlhood. In 1833, Lancaster had a most terrible visitation of Asiatic Cholera, and during the siege her father, mother two sisters and brother were victims. She was just seventeen years of age and was left alone with four younger sisters to battle with the vicissitudes of life. But, she was one of those strong, courageous characters of the 19th century. She married Dr Jennings Price in 1834. She survived him fifteen years. Their union was blessed with seven children, five of which died in infancy, raising two to maturity, Mr W C Price, of Danville, and Mrs Mattie P Frisbie, with whom she resided. The latter years of her life were not laborious but pleasantly circumstanced, her two children and five grandsons each made it their individual effort to have her environments auspicious and happy. In her last hours she was permitted to have all with her their affectionate attentions to soothe her, a fit ending of such a long and useful life. She often made pilgrimages over county and town to minister to sick and dying. Many lovely flowers testified to the love and veneration she held.
